

NO FRONT PORCH CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR COX

Ready To Make An Extensive Campaign In Every State.

WILL NOT RESIGN

Democratic Nominee Makes Brief Address In Middletown.

Dayton, O., July 7.—Close friends of Governor Cox say he will urge his political advisers against a "front porch" campaign such as Senator Harding expects to make.

The governor intimated he is ready to make an intensive campaign in every state.

Although he said he had not yet considered the matter, Cox indicated he had no intention of resigning as governor. His friends recalled that McKinley did not resign as governor in 1896.

Governor Cox received old friends at his home and in his newspaper office. Later he motored to Middletown to make a brief address to friends and neighbors of his youthful days, when he was a newsboy, printer's devil, school teacher and reporter.

When the flash came announcing his nomination, the governor, who was in his office, sat for a minute as though stunned. Then he crossed the room and kissed his wife. His next act was to go to the composing room of his newspaper and shake hands with his printers. Later he walked several blocks to the home of his closest friend, John A. McMahon, 87, attorney, to whom he wished personally to break the news.

After a light breakfast the governor visited the grave of his mother for a few minutes. She died, at the age of 85, several years ago, after living to see him inaugurated governor for a first term.

In his talk to his employees Governor Cox said: "The greatest that Almighty God can give to any man in public life is to permit him to come into the world under circumstances which enable him to know the life status of the man who works. Providence was good to me—it was my high privilege to come through the ranks. I know the torment of the boy who is without funds, and I know his anxiety as to how he will get an education that will help achieve his ambitions. If nomination means election, I will take to the white house this best equipment for a man in public life—that experience in the ranks with those who toil."

"HEART IN GRAVE WITH DRY CAUSE" DECLARES BRYAN

Commoner Asked To Comment On Work Of Convention.

San Francisco, July 7.—William J. Bryan, in giving his reason for not making any extended statement on the work of the Democratic convention, said:

"My heart is in the grave with our cause and I must pause until it comes back to me. My views on the convention's action in reference to the endorsement of prohibition are known. I regard it as a very serious mistake—it opened the door to the nomination of a wet candidate. I need not repeat here what I have said before in regard to the evasion of the other issues."

When asked if he would have anything to do with the third party movement, he replied: "I do not care to say anything about congressional plans, but the question suggests a subject which the public can not overlook, namely, the importance of selecting a senate and house that will refuse to increase the alcoholic content in permitted beverages or any other weakening of the enforcement law."

Suffragists Seek Cox's Aid.

Washington, July 7.—Governor Cox will be asked immediately to exert his influence to bring about ratification of the suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature, it was announced by the National Woman's party. "Governor Cox," said the announcement, "has now the opportunity of bringing to his party the great honor of giving the final ratify to the suffrage amendment and thus enabling women to take part in the coming elections."

Youth Drowns.
Marion, O., July 7.—Paul Klingel, 16, was drowned in the Whetstone river at Claridon when picnicking with a Sunday school class. He waded into a deep hole and was unable to swim.

COX NOW ACKNOWLEDGED LEADER OF DEMOCRATS

Complete Reorganization Of National Committee Likely With Election Of E. H. Moore as Chairman; Administration Forces Out.

San Francisco, July 7.—The council room of the Democracy, transferred from the White House to Palace hotel here two weeks ago "moved house" again today and will rest henceforth at "Trailsend," the country home of Governor James M. Cox Democratic presidential nominee.

Governor Cox will direct his own campaign. He is today the acknowledged leader of the party. The administration forces who for eight years sat in council on party policies, have folded their tents and silently stolen away.

When outgoing trains carried Democratic national committee members away from San Francisco and the hushed convention hall today, they bore men and women who admitted generally that the agreement of the national committee to meet in Ohio two weeks hence with Gov. Cox "to arrange for the campaign" could mean but one thing—complete reorganization of the committee, election of Edmund H. Moore, Cox's "bull dog" manager to the chairmanship and a switch in the committee control to such Cox men as Norman E. Mack of New York, Wilbur Marsh of Iowa, O. G. Johnson of Mississippi and others of the committee with leaders like Murphy, Taggart and Brennan exercising an "advisory" influence.

Secretary E. G. Hoffman of Indiana may be retained in his present position. Indiana's strategic switch to Cox in the crisis made Hoffman and his cohorts acceptable to the new group which has now gained dominance in party affairs.

There will be no fight to stave off the change in the controlling personnel of the national committee. This was generally conceded following the brief meeting held immediately after the convention adjourned. Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the committee had this to say in that regard.

"Governor Cox can have anything he wants from the committee in the furtherance of his campaign. For my part I will be glad to be removed from the duties that the chairmanship imposed."

The plan to have the committee meet with Governor Cox at his home in Dayton or at Columbus or possibly Chicago did not meet with unanimous approval when it was proposed by Chairman Cummings. Administration leaders like Thomas B. Love, of Texas whose forty votes for McAdoo withstood even the last demoralizing drive by the Cox boomers, Senator A. A. Jones of New Mexico, Sam B. Amden of Kansas and other Wilson stalwarts, opposed the idea and proposed to have the committee meetings and election of officers occur in San Francisco while all the committee-men and women were already on the ground. But Cox's manager Moore know his strength and stayed away from committee meetings, yet he saw his program go through.

Cummings insisted that nothing could be done but meet with Governor Cox to consult his ideas and desires in the matter of the organization he wants in the executive committee and to conduct the campaign.

Moore, whose grim and dogged struggle "put Cox over" is non-committal on the matter of his being slated for chairman of the national committee but he is positive of the kind of campaign Cox will wage for the presidential goal.

When outgoing trains carried Democratic national committee members away from San Francisco and the hushed convention hall today, they bore men and women who admitted generally that the agreement of the national committee to meet in Ohio two weeks hence with Gov. Cox "to arrange for the campaign" could mean but one thing—complete reorganization of the committee, election of Edmund H. Moore, Cox's "bull dog" manager to the chairmanship and a switch in the committee control to such Cox men as Norman E. Mack of New York, Wilbur Marsh of Iowa, O. G. Johnson of Mississippi and others of the committee with leaders like Murphy, Taggart and Brennan exercising an "advisory" influence.

Columbus, July 7.—The very first shot in the Ohio campaign for the presidency was fired in the form of a statement issued by Republican state headquarters here concerning the nomination of Governor Cox on the Democratic ticket.

After declaring that Republicans of Ohio must cordially welcome the nomination of Governor Cox and pointing with pride to the high honor which has come to the Buckeye state in furnishing the nominees of both leading parties, the statement compares the records of the two candidates as vote-getters in their native state.

"The record of Mr. Cox as a vote-getter gives nothing whatever to be feared by the Republican ticket," the statement reads. "In no year in which he has been a candidate before the people of Ohio has Mr. Cox faced, as he does this year, a united Republican party, without disaffection of special interests."

WOULD COMPEL THE PLACING OF NAME ON STATE PRIMARY

Colored Editor Files Mandamus Proceedings In Case.

Columbus, O., July 7.—Mandamus proceedings designed to compel Secretary of State Smith to place his name on the August primary ballot as a candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of state has been filed with state supreme court by Harry Clay Smith, colored a Cleveland editor.

Secretary Smith also a Republican, who is a candidate for renomination, recently ruled editor Smith's name off the ballot on the ground that indications were his candidacy was not instituted in good faith, but was due to collusion and a desire to confuse voters.

In his suit, Editor Smith claims Secretary Smith's ruling is "arbitrary, illegal and an abuse of discretion and without authority of law." He, also, claimed unconstitutional sections of the Ohio laws which "absolutely puts within the power of the secretary of state the right to exclude any and all candidates at his pleasure."

NATIONAL PLOT TO LOOT SHIPS GETS SEVERAL MILLIONS

Five Million Dollars In Goods Stolen In Past Year.

New York, July 7.—A gigantic national plot through which ships of the International Mercantile Marine are said to have been looted of merchandise valued at several million dollars has been revealed here today. Three men, seamen of the steamship Belgic, are held in $2,500 bail each and a fourth is detained as a material witness.

According to Stephen Dunleavy, a detective employed by the International Mercantile Marine, the organization has headquarters in both American and European cities. Dunleavy said he believed $5,000,000 worth of goods had been stolen in the last year.

Members of the gang, Dunleavy asserted, ship as members of the crews of various vessels and while aboard open boxes, remove the contents and refill them with rubbish. Working with confederates on shore the stolen goods would be removed and sold through an established organization, Dunleavy said.

George Cullen, George Patterson and Thomas Wells, the seamen under arrest, were taken after detectives, disguised as "longshoremen" had fought a pistol battle with a motor boat load of sailors from the Belgic. Evidence of the plot was unearthed, it is alleged, by a detective who shipped as a member of the Belgic's crew and became intimate with members of the alleged gang.

BATTLE RAGES ON WIDE FRONT BETWEEN RUSSIANS AND POLES

Counter Offensive Being Attempted By Polish Forces.

London, July 7.—A gigantic battle is raging between the Poles and Russian bolsheviks on a wide front in Ukraine northwest of Kiev, it was announced by the Polish legation today. he Poles, assisted by the reorganized Ukrainian army is attempting a counter offensive. A news agency dispatch from Berlin said that the Russians had launched a terrific drive against the Poles and Ukrainians with five divisions.

ROOSEVELT FOR VICE PRESIDENT CHOICE OF PARTY

Assistant Secretary of Navy Is Selected By Acclamation.

CONVENTION ENDS

After Eight Days Of Struggling Democrats Complete Work.

San Francisco, July 7.—For president, James M. Cox of Ohio; for vice president, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

That is the ticket which has resulted from eight days of struggling and maneuvering in the Democratic national convention. Governor Cox was nominated at 1:45 o'clock Tuesday morning on the forty-fourth ballot. The ticket was completed at the final session of the convention Tuesday afternoon.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

The proceedings of Tuesday afternoon were not so exciting or very interesting. After the usual resolutions of thanks to the convention officials and others had been adopted, an impassioned orator from Tennessee placed in nomination for the vice presidency that state's favorite soldier, General D. Tyson, doing full justice to his fine record in the war.

At this point a telegram from Governor Cox was received and read, accepting the nomination for the presidency, and a perfunctory parade of standards ensued. Senator Walsh placed in nomination Governor Samuel W. Stewart of Montana. California offered E. L. Doheny, Idaho presented James H. Hawley, Oregon D. H. Vagn, and the District of Columbia, warmly supported by New York and other state, urged Franklin D. Roosevelt. Stewart withdrew and seconded Roosevelt. Doheny's name was withdrawn, and then General Tyson removed himself from the contest, and all the others dropped out except Roosevelt. The nomination was made by acclamation, and the convention closed.

STREAM OVERFLOWS NEAR NEW BURLINGTON CAUSES CROP DAMAGE

Swollen by heavy rains, Anderson's Fork overflowed its banks near New Burlington. Tuesday afternoon inundating fields, ruining gardens and causing at least one family to leave their home through fear of the rapidly rising waters.

When the flood was almost in their home, Mrs. Joshua Wood and her family moved their household goods into the upper story of the dwelling in New Burlington and they sought shelter at the home of a neighbor. The water receded, however without flooding the house.

A large quantity of salt which was stored in a shed at the rear of W. C. Smith's general store was moved out in time to prevent its being ruined by the water which flowed into the store house.

Much damage was caused to growing crops when the water flooded the fields. An acre of watermelons belonging to John Powell was ruined. Mr. Powell had prospects for a fine crop of the fruit. Wheat which was ready to be cut also suffered heavily from the rain and wind.

The water at New Burlington reached a height within a foot as great as that during the floods last spring.

Drowns In Creek.

Columbus, July 7.—Stepping beyond his depth in Big Darby creek, near Orient, Addison R. Miller, 26, Canton, was drowned. The body will be taken to the home for funeral and burial.

GERMAN DISARMAMENT PLANS GIVEN ALLIES

Belief Expressed That Conciliatory Agreement Would Be Reached On Matter Of Observing Terms Of Peace Treaty.

Spa, Belgium, July 7.—After an all night session of the German delegates in a country villa on the outskirts of Spa, Dr. Von Simons, the German foreign minister announced that a tentative proposal on disarmament had been drawn up for presentation to the allies this afternoon.

"I believe that the allies will make concessions in the matter of disarmament," said Herr Fehrenbach, German chancellor and head of the German delegation.

Opinion was expressed in allied circles that a conciliatory agreement probably would be reached and that the conference would not be broken off tonight as the result of a deadlock.

It is understood that the allies are now ready to waive July 10 as the date by which the German army must be decreased to 100,000 men. The Germans, professing alarm at the Russian victories over the Poles, have been insisting upon an army of 200,000 men.

During the all night discussions of the German envoys reparations were taken up as well as the question of disarmament. Dr. Von Simons intimated that a tentative indemnity proposal had been formulated to be presented to the allies after the conference has finished with disarmament.

General Malcomb of the allied mission sat with the Germans part of the time and made suggestions as to the best means for Germany to disarm in accordance with the treaty terms. Herr Von Gessler, German minister of defense, and General Von Seeckt, commander of the German government forces were present also.

When the meeting broke out Dr. Von Simons said that the Germans would meet again immediately after lunch to put the finishing touches on their disarmament proposal and that it would be read to the allies when the third session of the conference gets under way between 3 and 4 o'clock.

The Germans appeared optimistic. They did not regard the hitch as serious but expressed the belief that the conference would continue until an agreement of some kind was reached.

During the morning Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand conferred upon various matters.

German newspapers received here say that Germany will not allow the conference to be shattered by contentions over disarmament when there are such important decisions to be reached later on in regard to economic matters.

JOHNSON DELIVERS ULTIMATUM ON THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE

Breaks Silence In Statement First After Chicago Defeat.

San Francisco, July 7.—Hiram Johnson today broke the political silence that has enveloped him since his defeat for the Republican presidential nomination at Chicago. In a formal statement the California senator declared that the league of nations is the "overshadowing question in the campaign: Served a virtual ultimatum on Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican standard bearer, that Johnson's active support of the party this fall will depend largely upon the attitude taken by Harding on the league of nations.

After contrasting the declarations of the two parties on the league issue Senator Johnson declared:

"With a candidate standing four square upon the platform, the issue leaves those who believe in safeguarding, protecting and preserving our Americanism, but one choice, and that is to support the Republican party."

The statement while making no inference to other than Republican and Democratic affairs, is believed to effectually remove the possibility of Johnson heading a third party and was so construed by the party leaders here today. The statement in part follows:

"The Republican party stands, firmly against the president's covenant as presented, denounces it as breeding war rather than promoting peace and reaffirms the time honored, nation old policies of Washington, Jefferson and Monroe."

"The Democratic party, on the other hand, rejected every effort to modify or qualify the president's proclaimed attitude and endorsed the president's attitude and took its position in favor of the league as presented. It is true that the Democrats in an effort to placate, say something about reservations which might make clearer or more specific the obligations of the United States but the language is meaningless and does not at all alter the essential position of the Democratic party for the league as presented."

PRESS OF ENGLAND DECLARES COX IS UNDER HANDICAP

Times Terms Nomination Of Ohio Governor "Blow To White House."

London, July 7.—British newspapers in commenting today on the nomination of Governor Cox point out that both the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees are "friendly towards Great Britain and neither seems ready to follow President Wilson's lead in European affairs."

The Washington correspondent of the Times calls the selection of Governor Cox "a blow to the White House."

Governor Cox is regarded by some papers as starting with a slight handicap. These papers express the opinion however that this handicap can be overcome by whirlwind campaign methods. The Times believes that the most damage to the Cox candidacy arises from the support of Tammany and Thomas Taggart.

All the newspapers print long biographical sketches of Governor Cox.

Akron Car Men Strike.

Akron, O., July 7.—City line employees of the Northern Ohio Traction company carried out their threat to cease working unless the increase in wages granted by the recent arbitration board was paid at once. The board made its increases contingent on an increase in fares. City council refused to be hurried into any new franchise to replace the one that has four years to run, in order to avert a strike.

FREIGHT CARS WRECKED

Elkhart, July 7.—The Big Four Railroad Company suffered a loss estimated at between $100,000 and $200,000 this morning when 14 cars on a north-bound freight train piled up on a curve just south of Warsaw. The cars contained coal and merchandise. None of the crew was injured.

CONFIDENCE OF PUBLIC NEEDED SAYS HARDING

Senator Stresses His Belief In Republican Principles.

GIVE SPEECH JULY 22

Presidential Nominee To Condense Address Of Acceptance.

Marion, O., July 7.—The necessity for the restoration of public confidence in the national government, with the stabilizing influence that go with such confidence, through the return of party government at Washington will be an important feature of his speech of acceptance, Senator Harding indicated today.

In an informal way the Senator stressed his belief in and expressed his allegiance to the Republican party and his convention that only through the application of its fixed policies in the national administration can existing conditions be met adequately.

He admitted that he was "regular" in party loyalty. He held that any party to be successful could not be reactionary and had to be progressive in the sense that it was forward-looking and abreast of the continuous and constant advancement.

The speech of acceptance will be delivered in the large auditorium at Garfield Park, Marion, July 22. Details of the notification ceremonies will be worked out by Senator Harding at a conference expected Friday with National Committeeman T. Coleman Dupont, of Delaware, chairman of a special sub-committee of the national committee selected to attend to this matter.

Senator Harding intends to condense his acceptance speech and make it as short as possible, considering the wide range of subjects that he must cover. He has started work upon it, and will give it almost exclusive attention until it is completed. He delayed the actual preparation of the speech until the San Francisco convention had completed its work and he had time to study the Democratic platform.

The senator spent last night in the library at his home, going over the mass of details he has compiled for reference in the preparation of his speech. This will be his program for many nights to come. His day time hours are devoted to answering his correspondence and in meeting the many callers who are coming to his headquarters. As many of these are his neighbors and friends they cannot be denied.

DAYTON CAR STRIKE COMES TO END ON TUESDAY; 7 CENT FARE

Dayton, July 7.—The street car strike, which tied up five street railway lines here for two weeks, came to an end Tuesday afternoon, the first cars to run reaching the downtown section shortly after five o'clock.

Resumption of the car service followed an agreement between company officials and carmen, following a series of conferences that culminated in a favorable vote cast by carmen Tuesday morning. The carmen returned to work on a basis of 58 cents an hour for employees of less than three months' service; 60 cents for employees of more than three months and 62 cents for employees of more than a year. The Companies were granted authority to charge 7 cents cash fare or eight tickets for 50 cents; 4 cents half fare, eight tickets for 25 cents and free universal transfers.

Severely Injured By Lightning

Struck by lightning while seated in a shed on the farm of Andrew Ferryman on the Federal pike Tuesday afternoon, William Reed, proprietor of a pool room in Cedarville, was severely burned and rendered unconscious for an hour. Doctors say he will recover. His left arm was burned the right shoe torn from his right foot and two holes burned in the foot one at the instep and one in the sole. His left eye is severely inflamed but the physician believes that the condition of the optic is not serious.

Mr. Reed with his young grandson, Thomas Reed, went to the Ferryman farm to buy corn. The storm came up and the man and boy with Mr. Ferryman, Clove Brandon, a tenant on the farm and Lewis Sparrow, sought shelter in the shed which was used as a workshop. The bolt of lightning entered through the chimney. The other men in the shed were stunned. Mr. Reed was taken home after he had regained consciousness.

Dayton Car Strike Ends.

Dayton, O., July 7.—The Dayton streetcar strike ended when car men voted to return to work on the basis of 58, 60 and 62 cents an hour for three, six months and one year's service. The city commission granted a 7-cent fare, with tickets at eight for 50 cents.

G. O. P. NOMINEE WON'T TOUR COUNTRY, BUT VOTERS WILL HEAR HIS VOICE

Senator Harding dictating his "Americanism" speech to the phonograph.

Senator Harding does not propose to travel over the country making campaign addresses this summer, but the voters will nevertheless get a chance to hear him speak. He has already given his "Americanism" address to the phonograph, and records of other speeches will probably be made as the campaign progresses.

PENNSY NINE WILL PLAY GAMES HERE

Through the efforts of Cliff "Tacks" Latimer, of this city, who is now managing the Cincinnati Division baseball team of the Pennsylvania Lines League, Pennsylvania railroad officials have arranged to have all championship games with the other Division teams played at Reserve Park this city.

This is in contradiction of the original plan that called for practices in this city with the real games being staged in Cincinnati, where a new park was to have been provided. The change will give Xenia fans the opportunity of seeing real diamond classics at the local park during this summer.

The final tryout was held at Cincinnati Tuesday and "Tacks" will pick his team soon. There are about two hundred men trying out for the team and many of them have seen service with fast minor league teams, such as the Texas League, the International, Ohio State and the American Association.

In anticipation of the games to be played here Reserve Park is being fixed up to accommodate the big team. The first game to be played here will be staged with the Columbus Division team, known as the Columbus Panhandles. These lads have a strong diamond aggregation and only recently held the New York Yankees to a low score in an exhibition game at Columbus.

All games this summer will be played on week days because many of the players are tied up with contracts in the Saturday and Sunday leagues at Cincinnati, but next year the Pennsy officials hope to sign these men exclusively.

METEORS TAKE 6-3 CONTEST ON SUNDAY

A home run clout with the bags partially inhabited, spoiled what looked to be a shutout for Wakely of the Xenia Speedwells, colored, 6-3, in their game at Reserve Park Sunday afternoon.

Previous to the eighth inning, when the colored lads started their rally, Wakely had been breezing along with a five run lead, and not a hit or run scored off of his delivery. In the eighth stanza Stanhope was safe on a fielder's choice and Anderson was safe on Leakey's error. Battles former O. S. & S. O. Home star, then stepped into an outshoot, catching the horsehide on the nose for a circuit smash. He cantered home in the wake of two others.

Excepting this one slip, Wakely pitched a pretty ball game, and at that but two hits were scored off his delivery. The Meteors scored in the first, second and third innings, sewed it in the sixth and added one for good measure in the eighth on consecutive hitting. Two hits were garnered off the delivery of Lewis. The score:

Baked Hamburg and Rice—Mix two cups of hamburger and one cup of rice. Moisten with milk, season, arrange in casserole and bake two hours. Allow plenty of room for rice to swell. Season with salt, pepper and butter. A little cream may be added in place of butter. This is an excellent lunch-casserole and a good way to serve meat in hot weather.

Beet Greens—When thinning out the beet patch use surplus beets and tops for greens. Wash thoroughly, blanch in boiling water for five minutes, arrange in casserole, season with salt and pepper. Cover and bake two hours (slow oven). Melt butter in pan and pour over beets when they are removed from oven. Any that are left may be used for luncheon the next day in salad.

Cottage Cheese Salad—Arrange balls of cottage cheese on crisp lettuce leaves. Moisten with mayonnaise dressing and serve cold.

Strawberry Whip—A few berries left from luncheon may be used for a splendid dessert in this way. Crush berries, add to whipped cream. Stir in with fork and serve very cold in sherbet glasses. A whole strawberry may be placed on top. A very pretty and easy to prepare hot weather dessert.

ANCIENT TONIC HIS SECRET

Hundreds of Thousands of Families Found Health and Happiness by Following His Instructions.

Six years ago H. H. Von Schlick could be seen any day visiting prominent Pittsburgh business men in their downtown offices. He carried a satchel, and his arrival was always greeted by a smile indicating welcome. These men were his customers. They drank at his "fountain of youth." They accredited him with a new lease of life and the healthy condition of their families.

Von Schlick has bright eyes and his cheeks indicate that pure red blood flows through his veins. He says he was younger at 50 than he was at 35. He has never had a sick spell or any of the symptoms of the ailments which afflicted him before he began using a tea, the ingredients of which were conveyed to him by an old Bulgarian 20 years ago. Von Schlick makes this statement:

"I was recovering from the grippe, was run down, had a dizzy feeling in the head, and felt like the victim of the hook-worm. This old Bulgarian knew of my sickness and while in the office suggested, 'I will give you something to make you feel better.' He returned next day with a package and told me to use one teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, and to repeat the dose once each night for a little while. He promised I would never be troubled from sickness again. I followed the prescription, skeptical, of course, and one day later I was seeking that old man to secure from him the ingredients of that tonic.

100 YEARS YOUNG
"He explained to me that in Bulgaria the older families regarded this tonic as the great disease preventative and health restorer; that it was handed down from generation to generation. At the first symptom of any sickness the mother or women of the family made the tea for all members. It is a well-known fact that Bulgarians are the oldest and healthiest people in the world.

"In Bulgaria and the Balkan countries of Eastern Europe, in spite of poor sanitary conditions, among 1,000,000 inhabitants there are 1,600 over 100 years old. In France there is only one person in 1,000,000 over 100 years old, and in Germany only one person in 1,150,000. It is a rare news item in the United States when a man dies after reaching the century mark.

"My Bulgarian friend informed me that his progenitors reached this time of life and that they all had a healthy and happy old age. Asked for a rea-

"JUST A GIRL"

BY JANE PHELPS

A WAITRESS
Chapter 56
A maid opened the door and without waiting, Mary stepped inside. I followed.

"Have you any rooms to rent?" Mary asked, to my astonishment; she had said nothing of desiring to move.

"Not just now. We might have some soon tho."

"Can we see the one you think might be empty?" Mary pinched my arm. I realized I was to say nothing so rather dazed, I followed her.

The room was a small one at top of the house, the price the same that Mrs. Lynch charged us. The room was neither so light nor so clean so I couldn't understand Mary's action in wasting so much time talking about it.

"Killin' time till them fellows got away," she told me when we reached the street. "I fooled 'em all right, didn't I? Got to hand it to me this time."

"I should say I have! I hadn't the slightest idea what you were about." "Didn't I know it, and wasn't I scared you'd give it away? I'm afraid we ain't done with that bloke. He's stuck on you, Zena. That Joe called him 'Mike'—just think of a fellow named Mike trying to shine up to you—a girl named Zena."

I couldn't keep from laughing. My name seemed to set me apart in

Mary's estimation. "Mike is a very good name," I returned. "But I hope you are not right, Mary—they make me very uneasy."

"Don't you worry, I'll look after them. When they finds you can take care of yourself, they lets you alone; but they ain't takin' nothin' on trust, and they won't let you be good if they can help themselves—especially such swine as them." She jerked her head backward in the direction the men had taken.

I was really more alarmed than I cared to let Mary know. The fact that this 'Mike' had tried to talk to me long before I knew Mary, precluded all idea that he might be attracted to her, not to me. I breathed more freely when I recalled that she soon would be working in the same place with me, and that we could go to work and return together.

My first day at the restaurant was arm-breaking and heart-breaking. By night I was so tired that I doubted my ability to get home. I staggered as I walked, then ran stumblingly to the car when I heard some young fellows laugh and hint that I was 'sozzled.'

I threw myself on the bed all dressed, but my weary body would not allow me to rest. When Mary came in I was sobbing quietly, utterly wretched, hopeless that I ever should be able to keep my promise to Mother, and make her a home. Why, I could scarcely keep my own body and soul together!

"What is it, honey? Them fellows ain't been botherin' you again, has they?"

"No, Mary, but I never can stand it to carry those heavy trays! I am so discouraged. Don't give your job up—that restaurant work is killing."

"But I have! I told Rosenstein to-day, and golly, didn't he flare up! I told you I was the hull cheese. I was foolin' but to hear him go on you'd really think I was. He begged so hard I told him I would stay until Saturday night."

I groaned. For all that I had told Mary not to give up her work for that I had to go on alone for three days longer was almost more than I could bear.

"You're sick!" she declared. "No, Mary, I'm not—I'm just dead tired. Go get your dinner. I don't want any tonight."

"Not on your—well, all right! You lay right there till I come back. You'll feel better by that time."

I must have fallen asleep in spite of my woes, for when Mary came in her arms laden with bundles, I did not hear her.

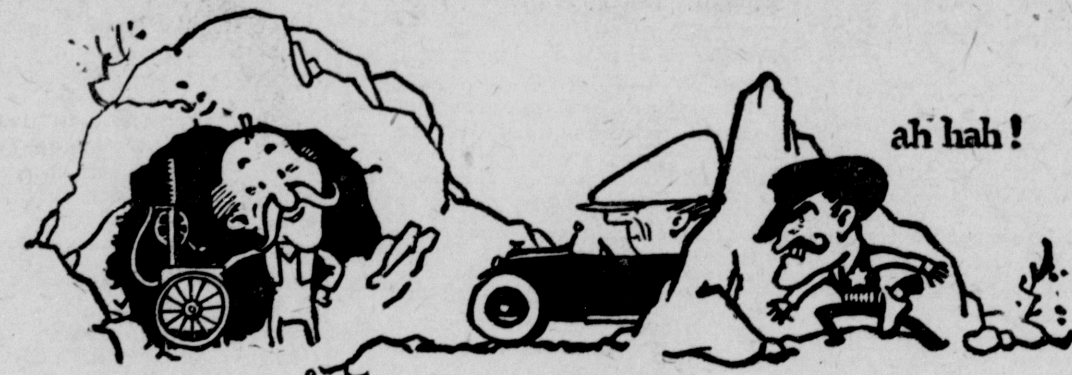

"Wake up now, Zena—dinner is served!" she said, shaking me a bit. "Tomorrow—Men and Marriage."

Columbus Gasoline

You're not violating the Volstead act when you use this good, pure, straight run fuel, and you're putting all the pep and kick in your car that the prohibitionists took out of the brown bottles last July.

You're done with sluggish fuel for all time after you've driven your first mile on Columbus, for the initial trial will convince you that there is no better gasoline to be had. You'll be first away at crossings where once you were last. Your engine will start easily and run smoothly at all speeds. You'll have ample power to negotiate steep hills and to conquer heavy going.

XENIA COUNTRY CLUB AGITATION WILL BE BEGUN FRIDAY

For the purpose of testing sentiment in a Xenia country club, a meeting of the Civic Affairs Committee and all other members of the Chamber of Commerce interested in the project, will be held in the Chamber Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Agitation for a country club here, which has been kept alive for several years, is responsible for the calling of the meeting. Those who have been backing the plans for a club for some time, now have high hopes that their plans will reach realization possibly this summer.

A plan presented some time ago of locating the country club at the present station of the Xenia Water works on the Springfield pike, is now being again suggested. Buildings, plenty of naturally pretty land, and a water source are all available and lend themselves easily to adaptation as a country club. It is estimated that the land included at the present pumping station is sufficient to provide for a nine-hole golf links with plenty of room left for tennis courts. The buildings on the site could be easily adapted for club rooms, dining rooms and kitchen. It is pointed out.

Those backing the plan are hoping for a large meeting Friday night at which time sentiment concerning the proposal can be probed.

MEN ARE ONLY MEN, NOT DEMI-GODS, SAYS HARDING.

We sometimes get it into our heads that because men are elevated to high office they must be more than human in their make-up. Warren Harding, Republican candidate for President, in his home-coming address, at Marion, Monday, commented very sensibly on this subject, much more so than we could do, hence we give you what he said as follows:

"Frankly, I like your rejoicing over a more than usual tribute to a fellowtownsman. I like it because it is in consonance with our Marion policy.

"Perhaps it is in the minds of some of you to wonder that we succeeded, and the thought is not exclusively yours, even if I have guessed correctly. You view the great institution of Federal Government from afar, in that reverence which is the chief security of the republic. God help us to rivet that reverence more firmly!

"It will not destroy it, it will only clarify that reverence and add to your confidence, if I tell you, after close-range observation, that government is not of superman, but of normal man, very much like you and me, except that those in authority are, or ought to be, broadened and strengthened in measuring up to great responsibility.

"Let me say it to you, friends and neighbors—aye, let me say it to any who may be noting our exchange of greetings today—if I believed in one-man government, if I believed the superman were necessary to appeal to the sober sense of the republic and ask our people to plant their feet in secure and forward paths once more, I would not be here in the capacity which has inspired your greetings. Normal men and back to normalcy will steady a civilization which has been fevered by the supreme upheaval of all the world.

"Government is a very natural thing, and in most instances ought to be a very normal and deliberate proceeding. Not always, of course, because great emergencies and crises mark all the vicissitudes of life. Normal man rises to meet them, else they never would be met.

"Perhaps I best can convey my thought by reverting to the community of endeavor which made the city we rejoice to boast. No superman did it; no one man did it. We worked together; we consulted men stamped with leadership, and in these processes we have achieved and rejoiced thereat.

Now, make the application. This wonderful land of ours is but the aggregate of communities; the sum total of cities, villages and farms, and the mutuality of interest and the necessary harmony of purpose, if we are to go on, must lie in conference, in counsel, in the concord of many minds, in the wisdom of plural leadership, in the never failing righteousness of intelligent public opinion, not in the glory of the superman."

DOES THE HUMAN SPIRIT SURVIVE AFTER THE SHOCK OF BODILY DEATH?

Herbert Welsh, of Philadelphia, has recently made public an article giving his testimony of appreciation of the character of the late Dr. James H. Hyslop, a native of our county, and his belief in the peculiar theories of Dr. Hyslop for which he was so largely noted, that the spirit of man survives after the shock of death. Mr. Welsh says:

"The subject has aroused a widespread public interest in the minds of thousands of persons who hitherto either took no interest in the question of human survival after bodily death as a scientific problem or were so disgusted with the obvious frauds connected with crude 'spiritualism' that they wanted to have nothing to do with any examination of the question. But that feeling of disgust, fear or suspicion, which belonged to comparatively recent times, is rapidly passing away among sincere, intelligent and educated persons.

With one who knew Doctor Hyslop as intimately as I have done within the last decade, great respect for psychic research would naturally come about, out of respect for the intellectual and moral qualities of the man. To a very vigorous, straight-moving mind, one wholly unaffected by any form of petty consideration, he joined the simplest and truest of characters.

"Out of all his years of patient observation, during which he spared himself neither time nor care nor trouble, finally giving his life through ever-prolonged exertion, there comes to my mind this one statement which he made frequently to me, and doubtless to many another, as the rich product of it all: 'I consider the survival of the human spirit after the shock of bodily death to be a fact as well proved as any other accepted in physical science.'"

WILLIAM H. VENABLE NOTED EDUCATOR AND NOVELIST IS DEAD

William Henry Venable, widely known historian, poet, novelist and educator, died after a long illness Tuesday at his home in Vineyard Place, Mt. Tusculum, Cincinnati. He was 85 years of age.

Dr. Venable was born April 29, 1836, in a log house built by his father on a farm near Waynesville in Warren county. In his youth he began the historical investigations which later established his reputation as an authority in all that pertains to the literary annals of the Ohio Valley.

Out of his early researches grew a series of notable historical works. Venable's School History of the United States, published in 1872 was for more than a generation the standard text book in Ohio and many other states.

Not only as poet and historian, but as educator, essayist and novelist, Dr. Venable contributed to the literature and traditions of the Ohio Valley. His "A Dream of Empire" of "The House of Blennerhassett" was published in 1892 and was pronounced by Benjamin Parker as "the one great novel of the Burr-Blennerhassett episode, and one of the strongest, most gracefully constructed and captivating of modern historical romances."

The death of Dr. Venable marks the passing of the last member of that distinguished circle of American poets, represented in Ohio by Alice and Phoebe Cary, William D. Gallagher, Coates Kinney, William Dean Howells and others. Dr. Venable was a close friend of Coates Kinney. He was also a friend of Judge C. C. Shearer of this city. He is survived by his widow and eight children.

ARMY CAN'T SPARE MEN FOR FARM WORK

In answer to a telegram from W. B. Bryson, president of the Greene County Farm Bureau, P. C. Harris, Adjutant General, writing for the Secretary of War, has sent the following letter to Mr. Bryson:

"The Secretary of War directs me to acknowledge receipt of your telegram of the 28th ultimo urging that all able bodied men at Wilbur Wright Field be released to harvest crops.

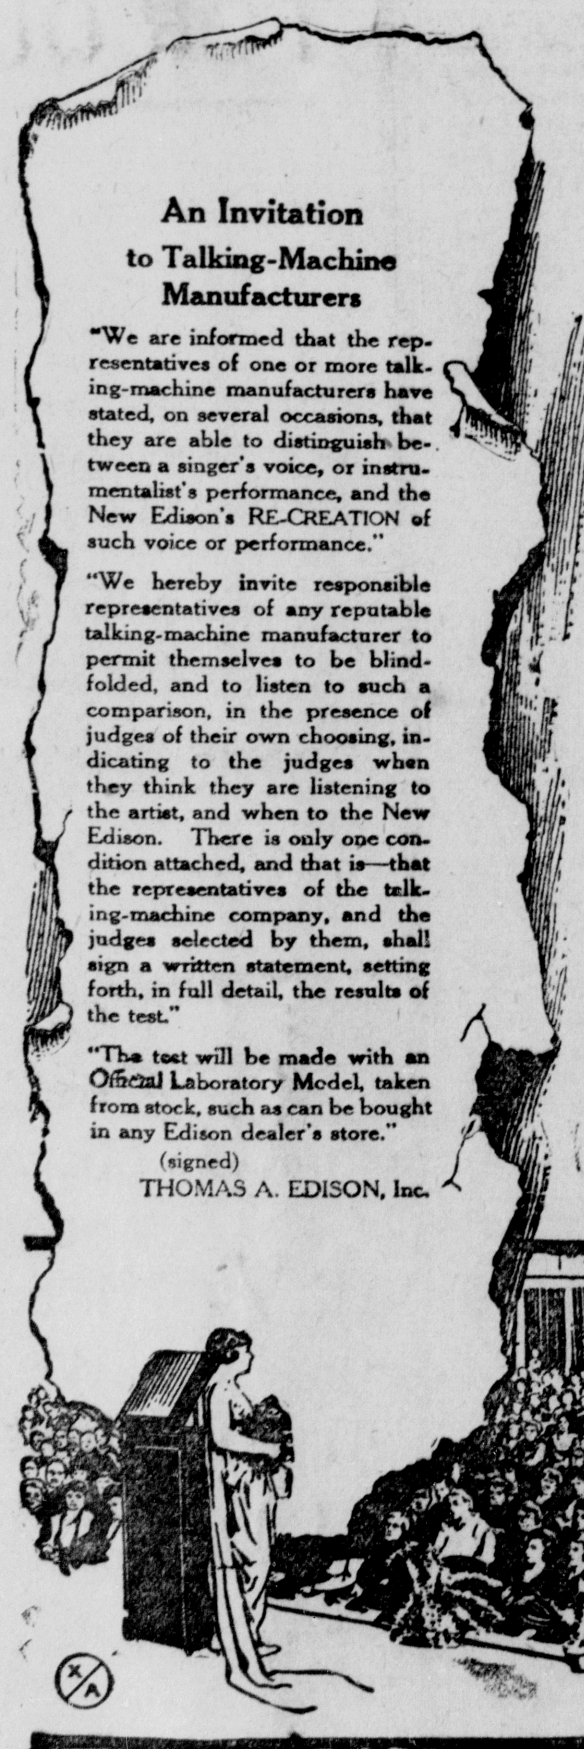

"He regrets that such action is impracticable due to the need of the Army at the present time for every available man, both enlisted and civilian employee. The Army is now short approximately 80,000 men, yet is required to carry on its normal activities, which cannot be suspended. The deficiency in enlisted men has to be made up in part by non-military duties by the employment of civilians, but due to the necessity of economy they are kept at the minimum possible. Troops are still being maintained in Germany and in our foreign possessions as well as extensively along the Mexican border. Certain camps, storage facilities, hospitals, etc., remaining from war activities still require the services of many men. Furthermore, it is particularly desired to utilize the summer months for military training to the fullest extent. This is more necessary at present since under existing plans a great deal of the soldier's time through the winter is devoted to non-military work along educational and vocational lines.

"He appreciates the need of the country for farm labor and your suggestion, but feels that the military establishment cannot safely spare any of its personnel to help fill this need."

An Invitation to Talking-Machine Manufacturers

"We are informed that the representatives of one or more talking-machine manufacturers have stated, on several occasions, that they are able to distinguish between a singer's voice, or instrumentalist's performance, and the New Edison's RE-CREATION of such voice or performance."

"We hereby invite responsible representatives of any reputable talking-machine manufacturer to permit themselves to be blindfolded, and to listen to such a comparison, in the presence of judges of their own choosing, indicating to the judges when they think they are listening to the artist, and when to the New Edison. There is only one condition attached, and that is—that the representatives of the talking-machine company, and the judges selected by them, shall sign a written statement, setting forth, in full detail, the results of the test."

"The test will be made with an Official Laboratory Model, taken from stock, such as can be bought in any Edison dealer's store."

The Official Laboratory Model has proved its Realism in 4000 Comparison Tests, made before 3,500,000 people all over the United States and Canada. For instance, in Los Angeles recently, an audience of 1,500 people was unable to tell the difference between the living voice of Miss Marie Morrissey, world-famous contralto, and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison.

There's a way for you to test the wonderful Realism claimed for the Official Laboratory Model in this sweeping challenge. We give Mr. Edison's Realism Test. Come in and let us give it to you.

The price of the new Edison has advanced less than 15% since August 1, 1914. Mr. Edison has absorbed the bulk of the increased cost of material, skilled labor, and taxes. "There's a Reason"

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am the mother of eight children. For years, through lack of funds, I, as well as the little ones, have suffered many discomforts—cold, hunger and sickness, brought on by not having the means of getting the very necessities, such as food, doctor and warm clothing. In all the twenty years of deprivation we never suffered as we did last winter and as we are suffering at present for the lack of bed and bedding. It is one thing that I have not a bed fit for a dog, but that fact fades away when I have to look on and see those innocent children trying to rest their tired little bodies on an excuse of a bed, pillowless, etc.

Jesus Christ in all His teachings told that the one man in hell was the rich man; also that it was easier for the camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for the rich man to enter heaven. I can see the truth of such, for I myself have gone to a few of the very rich and asked them to loan money and let me pay a little back each week or however I would be able until the amount was paid. They have done nothing. Then I was foolish enough to make an appeal to my own sex. They also refused to help and now when I meet these rich ladies on the street they fail to see me.

Of course I would have no trouble to borrow or even get a donation if it could be published in big black or red type in the papers—if they could shout their charity from the house tops.

I try to hope for something better, but when day after day and night after night no relief comes and I am compelled to lay my little flock upon beds of rugs, lumps, etc., I get very discouraged, especially in view of the fact that I see no way of bettering conditions when it costs so much for food alone.

If only the rich could see and know what it is to just suffer such conditions one night while they spend money on the things they do not need, how many in this city would let me use three or four hundred dollars and never miss it. They could not otherwise but please God, for that is really what He meant when He so endowed them. I would have such a fear were I rich. I would surely think I was doomed unless I shared with fellow men.

DISCOURAGED BEING.
To straighten out your trouble it is best to look at both sides of the question. Of course you realize that there are so many "fakes" in the world with their fine stories, that the hearts of many people have become hardened until now they resent any cry for help. Very often a rich man helps in many directions, but he prefers to discover the need himself.

Living conditions are wrong. The rich man makes money his god and forgets humanity. What we need is less charity and less greed. Greed has become such a power in this country of ours that it has crept into almost every heart whether the man is rich or poor. How many men in the laboring class conscientiously work for what they earn? Think of the carpenter, plumber, etc. Isn't it a question of get instead of give with most of them? Every man and woman alive should stop to think whether he himself is fit to enter the kingdom of heaven.

The principle of borrowing is wrong. If you could pay back, you could also save the amount each week which you would expect to pay back. Such an arrangement would be preferable because you would not put yourself under obligation to anyone and would not have the worry of indebtedness hanging over your head in addition to other things.

If you get help you should really ask it of people who know you; there is so much more chance that your plea would be heeded. I judge from your letter that you attend church. Surely the minister could help you to secure beds and bedding. Some members of the congregation would supply him with the needed articles. Naturally he would not tell them for whom the things were being collected. It would be sufficient for him to say that a member of the congregation was in need. If you have no church, try the minister of a church you do not attend. He would be likely to investigate your case and find help for you.

Try to keep your children proud. Let them feel that they must work hard to get ahead and not that they have a claim on some one else. You yourself are proud or you would not dread having your need made public.

Some of the eight children ought to be a help to you. The girls could get work washing dishes in some private homes and the boys could sell newspapers, mow lawns or get positions as office boys through the summer months at least.

You have not mentioned a husband. If he is alive and not doing his duty, get the probate court after him.

PRIEST CELEBRATES FIRST MASS HERE SUNDAY MORNING

At the altar about which as a lad he served as an acolyte, the Rev. Maurice J. Norckauer, C. F. C., ordained a priest of the Congregation of the Holy Cross a week ago, at Notre Dame, Ind., celebrated his first solemn Mass in St. Brigid's church Sunday morning.

Relatives and friends of the young priest thronged the church. Many had known him from his childhood and they gathered with his parents, brothers and sisters to share with them the happiness of the day. Father Norckauer is the first youth from St. Brigid's parish to receive Holy Orders and for the entire congregation the day on which he came to say his first mass among them after 13 years of study took on a special significance.

Assisting the young priest in the service were the Rev. Bernard Beckmyer, pastor of the St. Mary's church, Dayton, who was master of ceremonies, the Rev. James E. Quinn, former pastor of St. Brigid's the pastor Rev. Albert Burke, Father Boyle, C. F. C., of the mission band of the Order of the Holy Cross and the Rev. Hugh Gallagher vice president of Columbia University, Portland, Ore., who is now teaching Gaelic in the summer school at Notre Dame. He is a cousin of Father Norckauer.

The sermon, an eloquent, and masterful one, was preached by Father Boyle, who chose the words of Christ "going therefore teach all nations baptizing them in the name of the Lord," for his text, but built his discourse chiefly about the idea of sacrifice in particular the sacrifice that is exemplified in the lives of the Catholic priest and religious who remove themselves from human ties in order that they may be free to serve God.

"There is something glorious in the idea of sacrifice. The priesthood is gloriously noble, because it stands for the highest sacrifice," said the preacher.

DEFENDING YACHT, CHALLENGER AND CUP IN COMING RACE

The 100-guinea cup at stake, the "Resolute" in center, and the "Shamrock IV."

Here are the two yachts—the last word in racing construction—that will meet off Sandy Hook in a series of races beginning July 15 for the most prized trophy in the yachting world, the 100-guinea cup held by America since 1851. The "Resolute" has been chosen to defend the cup, being considered easily the pick of three yachts originally built for the event. "Shamrock IV" is the fourth boat Sir Thomas Lipton, blue-blooded English sportsman, has had built in an effort to take the cup back across the Atlantic. When Lipton writes his last check for expenses in connection with the coming races he will have spent at least $2,500,000 to get the cup. And American experts are pretty sure that the money will have been spent in vain.

Is Your Skin Ablaze With Fiery Itchings?

Don't Continue to Suffer Because of Wrong Treatment.

Impurities in the blood cause millions of tiny disease germs to set up their attack on the surface of the skin, and in the form of pimples, boils, scaly eruptions and itchy, burning irritations, begin their disfiguring and destructive work.

These disease germs can be reached only through the blood, and local applications have no effect whatever. That is why salves, ointments, lotions, washes and other remedies applied to the skin can do no more than give mere temporary relief.

If you want genuine relief from the tortures of skin diseases, lose no time in discarding all local remedies, and begin taking S.S.S. five work.

OUTLAW HIDES ABOVE PRISON BAKERY WHILE POSSES SCOUR COUNTRY ROUND

For ninety-six hours, while mounted posses scoured the bleak country surrounding the Wyoming penitentiary at Rawlins and officers hundreds of miles distant were on the lookout for him, William B. Smith, Convict 2777, crouched in a hole above the prison bakery in an atmosphere hotter than a Turkish bath, enduring torment while awaiting opportunity to scale the penitentiary wall and, if possible, join his prison bunkie, R. L. Lofton, who, "somewhere outside," he believes to be waiting for him. He was finally driven by thirst from his hiding place and was put in the death house for safe keeping. He escaped from his cell by sawing his way through the bars with a meat saw which he had surreptitiously taken from the prison kitchen.

M. Bonssotrot in his flying togs. A new world's record for sustained flight was established recently by Pilot Bonssotrot of France when he drove his "solitair" plane through the air miles above the earth's surface for a few minutes more than twenty-four hours.

Iris Shelley, of Detroit, was one of the guests. Mr. and Mrs. James Finn and two daughters, of Dayton, were guests of Jamestown relatives on Monday. James Roberts offers his sixty-odd acre farm for sale.

BELLBROOK

The ex-county champions (Bellbrook) emerged from their three years' dormancy Saturday with scarcely a noticeable loss of their old time "pep" which in other days had kept them in the "king row" with the best amateur teams of the state. Their first game was played at Mullen's Park (home grounds) Saturday afternoon in the presence of a large crowd of people who poured out from the town and township to see if the "war scarred veterans" could come back. They had for their opponents the strong Little Brew team of Dayton, whose well practiced players seemed to be mere playthings in their hands. Probably a more scientific battery in an amateur team has never been recorded, the visitors failing to score until the first half of the ninth inning when they succeeded in placing a "scratch run" on top of the pan. Score, Bellbrook 8, Dayton 1. Umpire, Harold Sidenstricker. A second engagement took place Sunday afternoon when the victors and about fifty strong-lunged rooters journeyed to Lebanon and completely demoralized the amateur champions of Warren county on the fair grounds at that place.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF CLUB HELD

More than fifty people attended the annual picnic of the Xenia Quilt Club held at Fort Ancient, Monday. The local members of the club took their wives and families to the grove and enjoyed an all day outing. The picnickers brought well-filled baskets for the lunch. There were no match games, but the members brought quito and played among themselves.

FOUR WITHDRAWALS FROM COUNTY RACE

There were only four withdrawals of candidates from the original list of aspirants for the Republican nomination for county and district offices when the time for filing withdrawals closed Friday. Those who withdrew their names from the ticket were Charles A. Darlington, candidate for congressman from the seventh district; W. B. Bryson and D. O. Jones, candidates for representatives in the general assembly and Frank L. Johnson candidate for prosecuting attorney.

Attorney Darlington announced at the time his declaration of candidacy was made that he probably would not be a candidate. His withdrawal leaves Congressman S. D. Fess alone in the race.
